

USA Shooting Passport Qualification Program

in collaboration with the 4-H Youth Development Program and the
National Shooting Sports Foundation

USA Shooting (USAS) and the 4-H Shooting Sports Program can provide information about starting a USAS Passport Qualification Program for 4-H participants and how to become involved in Olympic shooting sports.

The program offers junior shooters an opportunity to be engaged in positive youth development experiences and recognized for marksmanship performance. Attractive awards for a range of abilities, from new shooters to the elite levels of junior shooting competition, will be presented.

Levels are tiered with specific goals in mind. As young shooters learn and grow with the sport, they may earn Basic, Bronze, Silver and Gold awards. First, the shooter learns firearm safety, plus rifle, shotgun and pistol marksmanship. To earn the Basic level award pin, new shooters learn the fundamentals of shot execution and how to fire from a supported, or benchrest, position.

Bronze I, II and III training levels focus on shooting basics in their discipline of choice. Preferences on firearms or airgun type will vary and is encouraged.

Basic qualification levels develop a full range of marksmanship skills. While working toward Bronze, Silver and Gold level awards, all three levels may be attained at the same time. It is not necessary to train for each award level in any particular order, however, the Bronze level should be completed before moving on to the Silver and Gold levels.

Silver and Gold I and II level awards are based on competitive courses of fire, all within the less formal atmosphere of practice. The ultimate test for these shooters is shoulder-to-shoulder competition, which is required to earn the pinnacle Gold III level award. Upon earning this award, junior shooters are on their way toward a lifetime of exciting, challenging competitive shooting. The skills developed in competition have considerable value in many other shooting sports.

A few shooters distinguish themselves further in more elite competition circles. To be recognized for truly outstanding achievements, the program also offers Bronze, Silver and Gold Star awards. These unique awards provide evidence of outstanding accomplishments the young athlete has made in competitive shooting.

The USAS Passport Qualification Program for 4-H has something to offer every young shooter and gives incentive to improve and "reach for the Gold." Most importantly, young people are taught to play the game and do their best, because everyone who participates is a winner!

* Non-Olympic events are not required to shoot in USA Shooting sanctioned matches. Basic through Gold II may use any target available for that event, i.e., NRA.

The program is designed to offer the participant an opportunity to receive recognition for marksmanship performance in the Olympic shooting disciplines

• A basic award pin will be awarded for successful completion of a firearms safety course where fundamentals of shot execution and practice firing are taught.

• The Bronze and Silver training levels are taught on the local range where basic shooting skills are refined. Gold I and II are designed to introduce the competitive course of fire.

• Gold III award introduces the participant to actual registered tournaments of choice.

• The Star awards are the stepping stones to the USA Shooting Development Team and National Team. Work would begin here with the National Coach, travel to World and Olympic Championships.

• No matter what your goals are in shooting you will have learned a sport for life and just might have what it takes to be an Olympian.

• Contact your local Gun Club, NRA Instructor/Coach or USA Shooting Coach for assistance in conducting this program.

* Non-Olympic events are not required to shoot in USA Shooting sanctioned matches. Basic through Gold II may use any target available for that event, i.e., NRA.
